...particular covenant, because the grant was of the whole estate, as "appeared from the recital, and was defective from the first, as to a moiety, and the condition of the bond was to perform all grants, &c.(f) A. covenanted that he was seised of a manor, &c., of a lawful estate in fee, notwithstanding any act done by him or any of his ancestors, and that no reversion or remainder was in the king or any other; and that the said manor was then of the annual value of, &c.; and that the plaintiff' and his heirs, should enjoy it according to the limitations, discharged and saved harmless from all incumbrances made by him or any of his ancestors. The question was, whether the covenant for the value depended upon the first part of the covenant, that notwithstanding, §c. or was an absolute and distinct covenant, and the court resolved, that it was so, and had no dependence upon the qualified covenant.(g-) The general covenant for the value of the estate, was not of the same import and effect, or directed to the same object as the covenant for seisin in fee; and there was no ground, therefore, for supposing, that the covenantor meant the generality of the former covenant, to be qualified by a reference to the latter.(A) In the case of Trenchard v. Hoskins, 21 Jac.!,(») the plaintiff brought an action of covenant against P. H., and declared upon an indenture made between J. H. father of the defendant, and the defendant of the one part, and the plaintiff' of the other part, by which the former bargained and sold certain lands to the plaintiff", and the indenture recited, that Hen. 8, being seised of the lands, granted them by letters-patent, and deduced the title to J. H. by descent, and J. H. being so seised, he and P. H. conveyed to ...
