Not illustrated. 1913 edition. Excerpt: ...house.--German Tah THE LAD WHO WENT TO THE NORTH WIND I Once there was a woman who was very poor. One day she sent her only son to the pantry to get some meal. As the lad got the meal, along came the North Wind, puffing and blowing. He caught up the meal and away it went through the air. Then the lad went back to the pantry for some more meal. Along came the North Wind again. He caught up the meal with a puff, and away it went again. The lad went back the third time for some meal, and the third time the North Wind puffed it away. Then the lad was angry. "I will go to the North Wind and make him give me back my meal!" he said. He walked and walked, until at last he came to the North Wind's house. "Good-day, North Wind!" said the lad. "Good-day!" said the North Wind, in a gruff voice. "What do you want?" "I want you to give me back the meal you took from me," said the lad. "We are poor and we need it." "Your meal is not here," said the North Wind. "But since you are poor, I will give you this cloth. When you want food, you must say, 'Cloth, spread yourself. Serve up some good things to eat.' Then you will have all the food you want." "Thank you, North Wind," said the lad. "That is better than the meal." So he set out for home. The way was so long that he could not get home in one day. When evening came, he went to an inn to stay all night. "How hungry my long walk has made me!" he said to himself. "I will put my cloth on the table, as the North Wind told me to do." 113 Then he said, "Cloth, spread yourself. Serve up good things to eat." The cloth did as it was told, and the lad had a fine supper. All the people...
